SHEILA AJWANG

Sheila's mother, Molly is a single mother. Her husband died just before Sheila was born from severe hemorrhage from an infected tooth.

While pregnant, Molly went into premature labour at home alone. She thought to herself "this is the ninth baby I'm giving birth too how hard can it be" so she tried to deliver the baby on her own. After a very prolonged labour Sheila was born but she was very weak and developed a large bleeding wound on her head.

She was later discovered by Dr. Anna, a pediatrician from CoRSU. Who was visiting a hospital in the North of Uganda where Sheila had been admitted.

Baby Sheila after large scalp ulcer treatment and nutrition

Sheila was transferred down to CoRSU for nutritional help and treatment of her large scalp ulcer. While being fed, Sheila rapidly gained a kilogram in weight and the wound started to heal. She underwent a skin graft which took well.

Molly was unable to pay for the treatment in the hospital and is very grateful that Interface has helped with this. The wound has almost healed and Sheila has been allowed home
