

Partnering with Interface Uganda

The minor swelling that led to Eric's illness

In March 2018, 15-year old Eric felt swellings on both legs. The swellings turned more painful, prompting Eric's family to think it was witchcraft. Eric is an orphan and he is being taken care of by an uncle Geoffrey; a peasant farmer.

Geoffrey only saves little for the survival of his family. The money is inadequate to cater for Eric's medical treatment in a good hospital. A village health worker referred Eric to CoRSU but even then he could not afford the subsidised bill.

By luck, Interface came to Eric's rescue. Eric is grateful that his medical is taken on by Interface.

Geoffrey, Eric's uncle too is forever thankful to Interface for restoring the family hope.
